Greenlee Expands its line of Levels with the new L97 Mini-Magnet Laser Level *New laser beam level has a range of over 80 yards

ROCKFORD, Ill., Greenlee, a Textron Inc.(NYSE: TXT) company — Greenlee has expanded its line of levels with the new L97 mini-magnet laser level, which can project a beam of light over 80 yards to help align objects. This level is valuable in making a variety of applications easier for electrical contractors and plumbers. Such tasks as bending conduit, aligning an electrical panel box or plumbing metal cabinets can be done faster with the L97 level. Greenlee also offers the L77 mini-torpedo magnetic bubble level and the L107 electrician's torpedo level.

“The new L97 mini-magnet laser level comes with the ‘no-dog’ attachment features for bending,” said Chera M. Ellis, Director of Marketing for Greenlee. “No-dog” assists end-users in creating flawless bends.”

The L97 features a four vial design, each with anodized aluminum for displaying 0, 30, 45, and 90 degree angle ports that provide easy viewing from all sides. The V-groove on the top of the level also adds to the easy viewing of the vials. There are four rare earth magnets that allow for hands-free use on metal surfaces.

The L97 mini-magnet laser level is machined from aluminum alloy and anodized to aircraft standards. The bending offsets and calculations are permanently laser engraved onto the level allowing for better sight recognition.
